An employment agreement has been reached between the Board of Trustees and the classified employ-ees of the Yorba Linda School District.

The board approved the agree ment at a special meeting last Thursday evening. Details had been hammered out in several exchanges of terms between administrative and employees negotiating teams.

The employees are members of Chapter 436 of the California School Employees Association. Tony Cardoza headed the CSEA negotiating group which will submit a total before August 3.

Salary and fringe benefits for 1976-77 will be developed by retaining the present matrix without change, by averaging the percen-tage increase for employees of the other 14 elementary districts of Orange County and adding $7 per month to each step of classification prior to average computation, a dollar amount paid per employee representing the county average for health and fringe benefits (including premiums paid for medical, dental, eye care, life insurance and tax present district-paid insurance coverage by paying for each employee who works four hours or $90.80 August 1 through June 30,

The agreement has a clause in which it is "agreed and understood that there will be no strike, work stoppage, slow-down, picketing or refusal or failure to fully and faithfully perform job functions and responsibilities or other operations of the district by the association."

The trustees discussed the agreement in executive session.
They returned to the open meeting and voted their approval of the agreement.

Board President Paul Armstrong

stated that the trustees are "proud of the district employees" and complimented both negotiating terms on working out a satisfactory

Cardoza was lauded by Deputy Superintendent J. Elton Patridge as being a "tremendous negotiator and doing an "excellent job.

Patridge also noted that due to a fluctuation in the bond levy the district tax rate might reflect a slight increase of "five or six cents". He said this would be contained in the Publication Budget which published elsewhere in this edition of the Star.

However, Patridge added that is is possible that a different interpretation of the Education Code which might cause the tax increase could eliminate it. He said he is inquiring into this possibility.

The trustees also awarded the low bid of $22,005 to Sears Roofing Service of Lakewood for re-roofing three buildings at Yorba Linda Jr

The jubilation expressed by Mayor Henry Wedaa a few weeks ago over the apparent demise of the Chino Hills Airport proposal has turned to "real concern" over the latest development.
The Inter-County Airport Authority, composed of four cities, (Chino, Stanton, Garden Grove and Santa Ana) had been rebuffed in an application for funds through the Southern California Association of Governments (SCAG).

The ICAA had appealed adverse decisions to the SCAG Executive Committee of which Wedaa is a member. The regional group rejected the appeal rejected the appeal.

At the time the local Mayor declared: "We headed them off at the pass. Supervisor Ralph Diedrich and I stood side by side on the issues and won."

The action assured that non-approved programs would not be funded by the Federal Aviation Administration.

Now Wedaa has revealed a new Now we dat has revealed a new tactic by the airport proponents. Taking advantage of a new federal Developmental Airport Aid bill the cities are acting jointly and will supposedly make an application as airport sponsors to the FAA.

airport sponsors to the FAA.

By skirting SCAG they may qualify for a "special study" Wedaa informed. A decision to make a "special study" can be made by the Secretary of Transportation by himself without going through normal channels.

"I'm really concerned this time."

'I'm really concerned this time,' Wedaa declared. He has alerted this area's congressman, Rep. Charles Wiggins, to the problem which the cities who oppose the airport face.

The Chino Hills Airport matter has been in the mill for five years. Wedaa said Stanton and Santa Ana and, to a lesser degree, Garden Grove, want the airport for the jobs it would produce for their residents. Chino sees the airport as a substitute for the International Airport at Ontario, according to Wedaa.

Burglaries Drop

Despite Carelessness

Brea Police Chief Don Forkus has indicated that a 17% reduction in residential burglary has occurred during the first six months this year in Yorba Linda. This constitutes a reversal of a steadily increasing trend since 1970.

The reduction per capita is even greater, considering the number of new residents within the past year. Brea PD furnishes police service to Yorba Linda.

burglary reduction attributed to growing community awareness of the problem and the combined efforts of police and community leaders. In approximately 40% of the incidents, however, the doors and windows were unlocked according to Chief Forkus. Had these residences been secured, the reduction might have been substantially greater.

People frequently take great care in securing their homes when leaving for a weekend, vacation, or in the evening. Crime trends here show that the most frequent time of occurrence is between 10 a.m. and 2

The most frequently taken items are money and jewelry. Televisions and stereos once topped the list, but many residents have marked their driver's license number on these items and they are no longer as attractive for "fences" to unload on the market.

Chief Forkus offered a number of suggestions to further help decrease the burglary problem:

Mark your property with your

Reflections on 20 Teaching Years

It was 1956, the opening day of school. The Yorba Linda Elementary School District consisted of one school, the Richard Nixon on the corner of Yorba Linda Boulevard and Classes were conducted there for the district's entire student body, numbering between 250 and 300 youngsters. Classes were conducted for them from kindergarten through the eighth grade.

One of the two teachers at the junior high level was new to the district. He was Ken Sparks. When classes ended in June of this year, Ken completed 20 years of teaching in the district.

The other junior high teacher two decades ago was Al Steffen, now the principal of Mabel Paine School.

Sparks and Steffen taught all courses to the 70 or so boys and girls at the seventh and eighth grade level. The total population of the city, which was unincorporated at the time, has been estimated at about 1,000 persons.

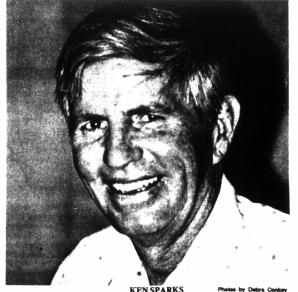

The area was mostly devoted to citrus groves and other types of farming and agriculture. But growth was occuring and before 1960 arrived the district added the Paine

The one unit at that school, along with the Nixon, sufficed for a dozen years with the junior high classes being transferred to Paine. More teachers were added and Sparks divided the school year with half his time at Nixon and the rest at Paine. In 1960 the school district pupil count has risen to slightly above 500.

Now the district has five schools one of them at the junior high level by itself with an average daily attendance of about 625 students, twice the entire district count when Ken came here in 1956 Ken obtained his bachelor's degree in education at Long Beach State. Although he hasn't chosen to pursue a master's degree or a Ph.D. he says that "teaching is always a

Developer Explodes

Dear Citizen:

Do you know your city Councilmen? Do you know what they stand for? It seems there is only one Councilman out of the five that will take a stand and stay with it. The rest ride the fence until they see how many people in the audience are for or against an issue. It doesn't make any difference what is fair or right, it

They have stated many times that they will not consider financial loss a hardship. (It must be nice to be in a position where money does not concern you)! The main concern they have is; if I vote for this, how many votes will I gain or lose in the next election!

When it comes time to vote they sit there like bumps on a log, waiting for someone else to make a motion; finally, when one does move the rest ollow like a bunch of sheep.

If I sound bitter, it is because I am. I would like to take the opportunity to tell you why.

I am a builder-developer. Almost five years ago I bought a home on 6.8 acres on No. Ohio Street. My plans were to make the house my permanent residence and develop the land and build custom homes of equal or more value than the surrounding neighborhood.

At that time the land was zoned for 14,500 sq. ft. lots. In August of 1972 I filed a Tentative Map with the Planning Commission for twelve lots, each lot containing over half again the zoning requirements, or an average of 24,000 sq. ft.

The Planning Commission first continued said Map, then denied it as they said they wanted only seven or eight lots, or almost three times zoning requirements! (Note of the members on this commission were Mr. Groot and Mr. Fried.)
October 1972 the City Council

overruled the Planning Commission and approved the Map: said Map contained twelve lots. (Note: One of the councilmen that voted for approval was Mr. Chaput). This Map expired one year later. Unknown to me the City of Yorba Linda time limit for completion of a Map is six months less than The State Map Act. I was not even given the courtesy of a notice or a reminder, etc., of the fact that I had less time than the state allowed.

Also, by this time and without any direct notice to me the City of Yorba Linda had adopted a General Plan and my land had been rezoned to .7 homes per acre. Now I could only put four lots on my property, each house having 1.68 Ac., 71,288 sq. ft.!

For the next two years I tried to get the Planning Commission to hold a hearing on changing the General Plan for this area to 1.8 homes per acre, which would allow me the twelve lots I had previously. They would not even put this on the agenda until the City Council directed them to do so. Even then, all they wanted to do was continue it When I objected to this they refused to consider any change. Finally, on February 2, 1976 The City Council went on record saying that they felt a mistake had been made when The General Plan was adopted and voted 4-0 to change The General Plan for this area to 1.8 homes per acre. (Note: Chaput & Wedaa both voted for this change.)

Next, the city initiated a zone change for this area to bring the zone into conformance with The General Plan, an act that is normally just a formality! On May 12, 1976 The Planning Commission approved the zone change. On June 16, 1976, a public hearing was held on the zone change before the City Council. It was pointed out to the council that of the thirty one parcels in this area that had already developed, only three only three conformed to the present zoning.

Also, under the proposed zoning only one-half of the existing lots would conform and that fifty-eight per-cent of these lots were under one-half acre and that the average of lots developed on my property would be .56 acres.

Councilman Cromwell, the only councilman with any guts, said I had the right to develop in the same way the adjoining property was developed. In spite of all these facts the zone change was denied. Why?

For the answer to that let's look at the new City Council: Fried and Groot, former Planning Commissioners, are now running the show. They answer to a select few who helped get them elected. But why did Chaput, who voted twice; once when he approved the first tentative and again when he voted to change The General Plan, and Wedaa, who voted for The General Plan change, vote against the zone change?

The answer seems obvious: they are not leaders. They will not stand by their convictions, but rather follow along for the betterment of their own political lives

Do you feel a man should have the same right as his neighbor; to develop and use his property as his neighbors have, or do you feel as the majority of The City Council, that a man's neighbor has the right to tell him what he can do with his property.

For example: how would you feel if you wanted a horse on your property: all of your neighbors have horses, but the city says you can't have a horse because your neighbors don't want you to. WHY? Because they don't want any more horses in THEIR neighborhood.

Respectfully, Don Schug Yorba Linda

In Concurrence

Dear Mr. Editor,

In the Editorial Opinion of the Star, issue of July 21st, the keynote ("The Time Has Come") seemed to this reader to strike exactly at one of the country's (and, not so co-incidentally, Yorba Linda's) major problems: the need for "We" to unite for action - (quote) - "that it is time, right now, to re-assess our priorities. With a total effort we can turn the tide.
"We have the magic formula known as the "vote" to grant the persons who will do our bidding (in) the public office to which they aspire or to deny the unhearing person the right to hold office." (Unquote).

In that vein, then, this writer suggests that important considera-tion be given to the present forces of influence on Yorba Linda's future: that the involvement of a maximum portion (to the degree practicable) of the citizenry be encouraged so that common causes and requirement priorities could be diagnosed, and resultant action courses established.

It was clearly for such general purposes that the Yorba Linda City Council recently conducted its two public evening meetings for the presentation and discussion of the City's budgetary plans and problems; in sum, to make its citizens aware of our local economic facts of life. And this effort was most commendable, and somewhat un-

As an extension of that informational process, and a consequential determination of appropriate actions the Council ecided to obtain volunteer services from interested, and qualified, citizens to aid it in a fully effective accomplishment of its objectives; to such necessary talent, advertising for appropriate applicants was to be conducted.

All of this should produce maximum benefits: a) the encouragement of public participation in the solution of our mutual problems and b) broad based opinion to aid the Council in arriving at correct long range policy decisions.

Such forthrightness by the Council, in recognition of the serious implications of the City's future directions, can seemingly only be praised for its purposes.

It was, therefore, with some astonishment that, at last Monday's Council meeting, one heard from one of the members that (quote): "I don't object to public participation, per se, but I do object to public participation in areas where special interest groups will infiltrate --- I don't want to run this City by committees -- we are here to make sound judgements - some of these committees, I don't think, are going to (make) sound judgements --

These quoted remarks (and other parallel ones to which attention could well be directed) contain at least these two elements: 1) a general disdain for the intelligence and integrity of concerned citizens and 2) the apparent view that his judgement levels have an exclusivity of superiority over the rest of 'us'

A search of the 'records' fails to locate even a faint foundation for such views; and, hopefully, this latest opinion merely further establishes his proclivity for a minority position among those of the Council's

But such comments (as above quoted), unless strongly rebutted by the other Council members, surely serve to discourage volunteering of service to the City by those who (just possibly) might be qualified by experience to contribute to the solution of Yorba Linda's growing problems; by those who could, conceivably, come up with 'judgements' at least as 'sound' as those of the quoted 'judge'.

Your Editorial Opinion correctly noted that the extant current conditions can no longer be conditions can no longer be afforded. It might also well question as to whether, or for how long, Yorba Linda can afford the seeming negativism of a Council member who has so little regard for "We".

Sincerely Donald S. Perley Yorba Linda

As is the case with many teachers As is the case with many teachers, Sparks derives the most satisfaction from "seeing former students develop in what they have chosen to do and to see them do it well.

"A teacher, or anyone else for that matter, should never give up on a kid. While the results may not be immediately discernible I have seen many of them mature and develop in later years.'

As an example, Ken, whose other love is sports and athletics (he has coached baseball and basketball). talks of Gary Wheelock. Gary is a promising young pitcher in the California Angels organization.

"I coached him when he went to local schools. He didn't stand out then. At Troy High he never made the varsity baseball team. He got cut

But he persisted. He wanted to be a major league baseball player. He'd practice with friends or on his own at every opportunity. He is a lesson for every boy and girl,' Sparks said.

Ken does not feel that the periodic report cards are always a true indication of the student's learning rate. He made this observation in relating a comparison to students of today with those when he first began teaching.

According to Sparks, the student of the 1970's has been both helped and harmed by television. "It has made them more wordly but given them the attitude of wanting to be entertained. This attitude makes school boring

To combat this, Ken has a favorite ploy in his English class. One year he singled out two girl students, gave them Robert Frost's poem "Death of a Hired Man" and had them write a play from it for each of his classes to perform. his classes to perform.

The experiment worked so well that he has his classes perform the play each year.

Ken also maintains a "Folder of in which he keens outstanding examples of writing. He said he is constantly amazed at the grasp of the subject matter which children acquire at the junior high Concerning the district admin-istration, Sparks has high praise. "They encourage innovative programs, they allow teachers to be creative, there are no heavy restrictions and we are allowed considerable freedom

There are some things lacking, Sparks declared. He would like more opportunity to work with his students in a "one on one" situation. He wishes that there was more parent participation in seeing that children get a good education.

And like all teachers who genuinely love their profession, Ken avers: "It doesn't' seem like 20

Support for 2 Crime Bills Solicited

Assemblyman Bruce Nestande (R-Orange) announced that "two vital law enforcement measures would be considered in August by the Assembly Committee Criminal Justice."

Nestande indicated that he is 'soliciting public support for these measures, because this type of legislation normally has difficulty passing out of that Committee."

Nestande, who is a member of the Criminal Justice Committee, pointed out"that several good law enforcement bills were passed out this session because of the assistance of public pressure." He stated that three bills in particular were solid law enforcement bills.

Nestande mentioned the juvenile justice reform bill, and mandatory prison sentence bills, for those using a firearm in the commission of a felony, and those convicted pushing heroin.

The two bills which assemblyman supports, but feels

"a strong showing of public support is necessary to secure their passage out of the Assembly Committee on Criminal Justice unamended," are Assembly Bills 289 and 876.
Nestande indicated "that AB 289 increases from 7 years to 15 years the minimum term a life sentence offender must serve in state prison before being eligible for parole."

The second bill, AB 876, "has several provisions, with the most significant establishing the require ment of a public transcript with respect to parole hearings, and further requires that the Adult Authority make a finding that the prospective parolee is no longer a danger to society, with supporting reasons, before a parole may be granted."

Nestande indicated "that a major portion of crimes are committed by repeat offenders, and perhaps this tightening of parole requirements will cut down on recidivism." He concluded that he "considers these two bills the most significant anti-crime legislation introduced this session, and encourages a letter writing campaign to local legislators and the Governor, seeking their public support of these two very important anti-crime bills."

The Star editorial in the July 21 edition about mounting a massive protest against tax increases, sharply mounting assessments and costs of homes probably didn't inspire a news release from the Orange County Council of Real Estate Boards but it sure supported Estate Dource our contention.

The group has sent letters to more than 100 county taxing agencies requesting them to consider cuts in their tax rates. The letter was an appeal for relief from property tax increases brought about increased property assessments.

Explaining the letter an official of the board said the real estate industry has been deluged with calls from property owners upon receiving notices reflecting higher assessments.

The letters went to every city, 47 special purpose disricts, 28 school districts and the Board of Supervisors. Yorba Linda probably did not get a letter as it has no city property tax.

The concern of Realtors is readily understandable. Increased assess ments and resulting higher taxes could greatly cut into their ability to sell homes.

I have already passed the following information on to Donald Todd, the local man who is waging war on bees because he is allergic to their venom, but I thought others with the same problem would be inerested.

A pest control expert at UC Berkeley tells of a method to trap bees and wasps, expecially around outdoor dining areas. He said the method is effective, safe, easy to use and ecologically sound.

Put some soft drink, preferably translucent orange and orange pineapple flavored mixtures, diluted to roughly 10 per cent with water, in a clean, gallon-size jar made of yellow colored plastic.

The color attracts the bees from long range. The liquid attracts them
